I Am Womyn, Poem Song

Words + Music Chrisentiae Saint-Piaf

Poem composed Monday 9 July 2012, music composed Wednesday 9 September 2015.

I composed this this as a poem in 2012 and set it to music in 2015. This is me reflecting in a mirror, pre eHRT. I came out as transgender and lesbian on 4 July 2011 but it wasn't till 8 September 2014 that I was able to get medical help eHRT. There is a lot of discrimination against transgender persons and our human rights.

Refrain Am Dm Am Dm Am Dm Am E

ad lib as Chrisentiae does :)

1. Am Dm
Within I am femyl, without I am not me
Am Dm
for my heart speaks, this womyn to be free
Am Dm
for such a long time, I was under a shadow Am E expectations of gender, a silenced sparrow

[refrain]

2. Am Dm
Told, my body is who I am, my heart is not me
Am Dm
do this, do that, and obey, but I womyn, do not flee
Am Dm
for where can there be warmth, in arms that long to embrace Am E
when I my true self, am but an expected empty space?
[refrain]

3. Am Dm
So society scorn me no more, you point, and sneer and mock
Am Dm
as though my heart feels not, as though such were a rock
Am Dm
for though my tears and cries, I do not let you see Am E know that your words seek harm, to the very essence me [refrain]

4. Am Dm
I am but like a flower, striving for some sun
Am Dm
to grow and love and be happy, like all God's children
Am Dm
I am but like a sparrow, who each day her heart does sing
Am E
to give praise for each new day, autumns, summers, winters, springs

[refrain]

5. Am Dm
I am but like a sparrow, la la la la la [x3 and end on E chord, like Christientiae sings]
